NEW SINGLE RELEASE - Good as Gone from Lady Maisery and Jimmy Aldridge & Sid Goldsmith.

Released 23rd May, 2025.

‘Good as Gone’ is the new summertime single from a collaboration that brings together two of the most engaging and inventive folk acts in the UK.

Award winning trio Lady Maisery (Hannah James, Rowan Rheingans and Hazel Askew) have for nearly a decade produced “some of the most exquisite, thrilling work in the English folk scene” (The Guardian). The beguiling musical partnership of Jimmy Aldridge & Sid Goldsmith complete the powerful line-up.

Good as Gone is a hazy dream of a summer that is about to begin. Originally written by Robin Williamson, it tells of an aching heart ready to emerge from winter and find ‘room to uncurl’ in the opportunity and freedom of summer.

The single is the first release from the collaboration since their much-loved 2019 wintertime album, Awake Arise. It is part of a new show, Wakefire, which offers a multi-layered, surprising and essential incantation to summer. It is an incantation to the traditions of mayday, of morris, and of magic that traditionally accompany this season. But there is also ritual, rave and Cider with Rosie. There are countryside cuckoos and city foxes. There is fear for our warming planet alongside the promise of ripening fruit.

Wakefire will be touring this June, ahead of an album release in 2026.
